

Nursing Department Course Description

Course Number : (0901303)

Course Name: Nursing Health Education and Counseling

Number of credit hours: 2

This course has been developed to provide students with major concepts about teaching, counseling and their importance in maintaining and promoting health. Student will value nursing knowledge and communication skills in the process of influencing clients thinking, attitude and behavior for enhancing their quality of life.

This course will provide student with a guideline for the teaching process starting from assessment till evaluation. Emphasis will be on development, implementation, and evaluation of health education plan applied to individual, family or community.