

101441	Abbasside History	(3 credit hours)	(prerequisite -)
---------------	--------------------------	-------------------------	--------------------------

During this course, students are acquainted with the emergence of the Abbasside dynasty, and the historic developmental transformation underwent by the Arab-Islamic civilization with the advent of the Abbasids. The course looks at the Abbasside advocacy by examining the organization of the advocacy of Ahl al-Bayt and the rise of the Abbasside dynasty. It also traces the chronological order of the Abbasside caliphs, their internal and external policy, their stand on the opposition movements, and highlights the most important cultural and military achievements of the Abbasside dynasty.